Nashotah House launches search for new Dean

Nashotah, Wisconsin (February 12, 2024)—Nashotah House Theological Seminary, a 182-year-old institution located on the outskirts of Milwaukee, Wisconsin, is seeking a new dean to shape the future of its ministry within the breadth of the Anglo-Catholic tradition. The dean will follow the successful tenure of Dr. Garwood Anderson, who is resigning from the deanship to return to teaching.

The Nashotah House Board of Directors selected FaithSearch Partners, a nationally recognized executive search firm with a primary focus on recruiting leaders for faith-based institutions, to provide management support for this search. Representatives from FaithSearch Partners conducted almost three dozen personal interviews with Nashotah House constituents in late December and throughout the month of January, including on-campus discussions with students, faculty, and staff. With the information gathered, the search consultants presented a report to the Nashotah House Board, including a profile of the ideal candidate for the position.

The board approved the document and the recommended process. Board Chairman, Canon Ed Monk, said, “The Nashotah House board is fully committed to this process and grateful for the support of individuals who understand the unique ministry and mission of the House. If plans develop as we anticipate, we hope to have a new Dean in place within a few months, ensuring a smooth leadership transition. In the meantime, we thank Dr. Anderson for his continued guidance at the helm of the institution and all he’s done to place it on such sure footing for the next person to take on this important role.”

The banner features the text "NASHOTAH HOUSE NEWS" in white, uppercase letters on a dark blue background. To the right, a faint, circular seal of Nashotah House is visible, containing a central emblem and the text "Nashotah House" and "1842".

NASHOTAH HOUSE NEWS

Ongoing priorities in the dean's portfolio include continued growth in student enrollment and fundraising; effective management of operations; building and maintaining strong relationships across all constituencies of Nashotah House—students, staff, faculty, alumni, sending bishops and dioceses, and members of the Board of Directors.
